The Last Assembly of Blessed Edward Jones Catholic High took place last Thursday evening, prior to the closure of the school and the taking down of the building. Despite extra workloads as the schools situation goes through huge changes, a wonderful evening took place as several hundred ex-pupils and staff returned for the occasion. Laughs and shrieks rang through the school corridors as old classmates reconnected. Staff were fascinated to hear stories of how their ex-pupils had progressed and moved on in life in various ways. Many were sad to think of the school coming down. Acting Head Mark Cohen welcomed everybody in a packed gymnasium and helped people re-experience school life by threatening troublemakers with extra homework or detention till 9.30pm when the event ended !! The school bell was rung symbolically for the last time. Many artefacts of the school were available for sale to fund raise for the new school, especially for families who in the current economic climate cant afford u ni-forms.

The birth of the Alumni Association also took place with several hundred sets of contact details of those who wish to stay connected. This means that further reunions can take place. Many ex-pupils expressed willingness to return for mentoring and encouragement of existing students of the school.

Well done to the school staff and others who prepared the evening.

Climate Change Lobby in houses of Parliament. About thirty people from north Wales parishes went by coach last Thursday to the big multi-faith rally in London as CAFOD supporters, led by Colette our CAFOD coordinator. A long but excellent day took place. On the bus we prayed and reflected but also a ball of wool was thrown round and each person receiving stood to say who they were and why there were taking part. MP and parishioner Rt Hon Chris Ruane, brought us all in out of the long queue and many excellent and quite direct questions were put to various MP's. We took a good look at what might happen in Denbighshire and what needs doing, with some interesting ideas emerging. As a parish we could now reflect on how we can improve our practice in different ways

Weekly Guide to Daily Prayer

Who among us hasn't felt lost or broken? We all feel that way sometimes and for many, the feelings happen more than just sometimes. We feel unappreciated and small. We are overwhelmed by the big things and little things that complicate our lives. We have too much to do at work. We have spouses who don't understand us. We have children who can frustrate us. We have friends who can't be counted on. We can be lost and those around us can be lost too.

Today's readings offer hope and love and joy for those times when we feel that way. In the first reading from Ezekiel, God tells us he will search for us, his sheep, and make us safe. The 23rd Psalm repeats the shepherd image and tells us that "Even though I walk in the dark valley I fear no evil; for you are at my side with your rod and your staff that give me courage."

The second reading from Romans reminds us that "the love of God has been poured out into our hearts through the Holy Spirit that has been given to us." Our hearts. As we are. Even when we are feeling lost or broken. Overwhelmed or frustrated. The reading tells us "But God proves his love for us in that while we were still sinners Christ died for us."

And Luke's Gospel tells the parable of the man losing one of 100 sheep, goes to look for that one sheep and rejoices at finding it. God loves us and welcomes us as we are. He rejoices when we turn to him and repent.

I am broken, but I am loved. God is with us, even in the dark valleys. He gives us the courage to do the right thing, to share that love that has been poured out into our hearts.

Attention Readers The latest readers list is on the website and there are a few paper copies at the back of church.

We have a big problem with the new school in finding money for uniforms for those who can't afford these, as there are no hand-me-downs. If you can help let us know. On the other hand the Denbighshire County/ Citizen's Advice bureau School Uniform Recycling scheme is a big success, saving some families over £5,500 last year. Many low income families have a big worry buying their child's uniform.

The scheme looks like expanding this year. They need people to help inspect, wash, iron, bag and tag the uniforms being contributed. If you can help, the recycling shop will open 30th, 31st July and 1st August at the ASK Centre run by the United church, Rhyl, Water St from 10am—2pm Separate to this we also need any sponsors out there who might help us buy a uniform
